A new blog format

Today I installed a new blogging application on my website, [www.rayblender.nl]. Main reason was that I did not use the web site regularly as editing entries was too complicated. Currently I write almost everything in "markdown", so I decided to install a blog that is able to render markdown. After testing different applications such as DokuWiki, MediaWiki, WordPress, DotClear, I chose Serendipity. Time will tell if this was the right choice.
